

README

About the Contents

This download contains an archived version of onlinecomposer.org.

onlinecomposer.org is the original digital artwork.

onlinecomposer.no was created as a web archive for the preservation of the work and its contents.

Contents

The project is organised into seasons with different themes, connected through links.

The archive consists of HTML files, screenshots from onlinecomposer.org, as well as audio, video and other media files that form part of the project.

The archive is intended to preserve both the content and as much as possible of the structure of the original artwork.

How to Use the Material

The files can be opened using standard software and tools for viewing websites and digital media, including web browsers and applications supporting HTML, MP4, MP3 and similar formats.

Some features of the original website may depend on technologies or services that are no longer available. The archived material is therefore also intended to serve as documentation of the artwork should the original technical implementation no longer be possible to reproduce in the future.

Rights

Onlinecomposer (onlinecomposer.org and onlinecomposer.no) © 2017 Arnt Håkon Ånesen / Arnt Haakon Aanesen. All rights reserved.

onlinecomposer.org was created as a digital work and is primarily intended to exist on the internet.

The material may be shared, displayed and performed, provided that the creator is credited and that the material's origin in onlinecomposer.org and onlinecomposer.no is clearly acknowledged.

The work, or parts of it, may also be presented in contexts and media outside the internet, provided that the creator is credited and that the material is not presented as an independent work created by someone else.

Future Continuation

The material may be adapted and developed further using future digital technologies, including AI tools and any future forms of artificial intelligence.

In any such continuation, the connection to the original work must remain clear and recognisable, and Arnt Håkon Ånesen / Arnt Haakon Aanesen must be credited as the creator of the original work.

Future artists, creators and technologies are encouraged to allow the project, its universe and its story to continue into new technological and artistic forms.

At the same time, the original material must be preserved as documentation of the work as it existed.
